

Disclosure for Carolyn Stein

Paper title: Internalizing Externalities: Designing Effective Data Policies

I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. However, over the past three years, have I received more than $10,000 in research funding from the National Science Foundation.

My father (Jeremy Stein) has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. However, a complete summary of all his outside activities since 2006 is available at <https://scholar.harvard.edu/stein/pages/outside-activities>.

No other close relatives have relevant disclosures.