

For “Using Longitudinal Data to Explore the Gender Gap for Academic Economists”

Disclosure Statement for Heather Royer

Heather Royer declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

This work contains publicly available information and thus, no IRB approval was required.