

Disclosure statement for “Estimating spillovers from publicly funded R&D: Evidence from the U.S. Department of Energy”

Author: Kyle R. Myers

Date: January 5, 2022

Some of the research that led to this paper was conducted as part of a National Academies of Sciences (NAS) review of the Department of Energy's (DoE) Small Business Innovation Research program. The views expressed herein do not necessarily reflect those of the review committee, the NAS, or the DoE. None of the parties involved in the NAS review had any influence or control over this work or findings.

Portions of the text, mostly pertaining to the setting, data sources, and data construction, may appear in the documents that I assisted in preparing for the review.

Other than my participation in the aforementioned NAS review, I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Myers', written in a cursive style.

Kyle Myers, Ph.D.

Harvard Business School, Harvard University