To: JEP editors and readers

In addition to my role as Dean of the University of Chicago Harris School of Public Policy, I currently serve on the board of directors of Eli Lilly and as a Trustee of the Mayo Clinic, the Chicago Council on Global Affairs, and NORC. I serve on advisory panels for the Congressional Budget Office and the National Institute for Health Care Management. I have research projects funded by the NIH's National Institute on Aging through the NBER, though this particular paper received no outside funding.

Sincerely,

Katherine Baicker
