

Do Earmarks Target Low-Income and Minority Communities? Evidence from US Drinking Water

David A. Keiser

Disclosure Statement

Keiser discloses funding for this work from the National Institute on Aging of the National Institutes of Health award R01AG079914. Keiser also discloses that he is a chartered member of the U.S. EPA Science Advisory Board (SAB), a member of the SAB Economic Analysis Committee, and has served or is currently serving as a member of the SAB Greenhouse Gas Rules Workgroup, a member of the SAB PFAS Review Panel, Chair of the SAB Scientific and Technological Achievements Awards Committee, and a member of the SAB Waters of the United States Working Group. He has received recent funding from the USDA, USEPA, NIH, and NSF. Keiser also discloses funding within the last three years from the Center for Applied Environmental Law and Policy, the External Environmental Economics Advisory Committee, the Inter-American Development Bank and the Central Bank of Brazil, and from expert witness consulting related to ongoing drinking water litigation.