

Disclosure Statement for de Janvry

Manuscript: Technological innovations, downside risk, and the modernization of agriculture

By: Kyle Emerick, Alain de Janvry, Elisabeth Sadoulet, and Manzoor H. Dar

Berkeley, CA, April 8, 2015

-Financial support for Alain de Janvry:

- Financial support came from the University of California in the form of wages as professor.

-Financial support for the project:

- Agricultural Technology Adoption Initiative of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation (UC Berkeley SPO Award number 031283-003) and from the Stress-Tolerant Rice for Africa and South Asia (STRASA) project of the CGIAR.

-Relevant relations for Alain de Janvry:

- The author declares he has no relevant material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.
- The author declares not to have any paid or unpaid positions as officer, director, or board member of any profit-making or non-profit entity.
- None of the author's close relatives have any relevant paid or unpaid positions as officer, director, or board member of any profit-making or non-profit entity whose policy positions, goals or financial interests relate to this research.

-Prior review:

- The authors were free to write the paper without any external party reviewing the paper prior to circulation.

-Previous versions:

- This paper has been circulated in conferences/seminars under the following titles:
 - Risk and the modernization of agriculture
 - A Flood of Investments: Flood-Tolerant Rice and Farm Investment in India

-IRB approval:

- The IRB approval was issued on July 26, 2011 under University of California, Berkeley Federalwide Assurance #00006252. It was regularly renewed throughout the project.

Alain de Janvry
Professor
University of California